Outdoor Play and Learning

a monthly insight into C.A.R.E. Academy

Student of the Month

William aka the best big brother ever is our student of the month!

William is so eager to learn and we love that! He is a little sponge that is responsible, kind, and our calendar in kid form. Way to go William!

It's gonna be...

May

Butterflies Brief

Shout out to our Butterfly students, teachers, and parents! They have been working so hard on their academics and we can see the growth! They are recognizing letters and letter sounds, spelling names, adding, and knowing so many facts on a plethora of topics. Keep up the great work butterflies!

Teacher Spotlight

Ms. Alicia continuously shows her passion for teaching and the love she has for her children. Her level of compassion towards the children is unmatched. Thank you, Ms. Alicia, for always helping where you can and shaping the young minds in your classroom!

We're Working On It! –
Response to Survey Questions

Why isn't there a covered walkway connecting the two buildings?

Unfortunately, our plans to connect our buildings via a breezeway have been temporarily halted due to Charleston County ordinances prohibiting the crossing of parcel lines. As CARE Academy owns one side and leases the other, we are unable to proceed with the construction as originally planned. However, we are diligently working to regroup and redesign our approach to ensure compliance with county regulations.

Policy Reminder

- No outside food or drink is allowed unless it has been discussed prior or your child is under the age of one.
- Parking in front of the Butterflies building is not permitted unless you are handicap. This is ruled by the county. We can be fined and so can you!

Policy Reminder

Communication regarding school matters, questions, concerns, and incidents should be placed in Brightwheel only. We love for Parents and teachers to cultivate personal relationships; however, sending such info to teachers personally increases liability for our school.

Scribbles Mean Something

Drawing and scribbling are the first steps in using the skills children will need later for writing.

Scribbles may not look like much to us, but to the child, that is their way of showing their thoughts. Scribbling also helps with learning how to hold a writing utensil!

The Benefits of Creating Outdoor Play and Learning Spaces for Young Children

Today, so many young eyes are tuned into an electronic device. While technology can be a benefit to us all, it should be limited. It is important that children have real life experiences with physical materials to stimulate cognitive development. So much of the time children could spend outdoors is instead consumed by electronics (TV, video games, YouTube, tablets, etc.). Why don't we play outside anymore? There are many benefits to playing and learning outside! Outside activities boost creativity, enforces unique uses of materials and resources, creates a different learning environment, and provides vitamin D.
