IN SPOOK-TOBER

Let's Clean Up!

'Clean up, clean up, everybody do your share!' How many times did you hear that song when you were young? At some point, we all hated to clean up the mess that we made, but aren't we better adults because of it? Why is it important that we allow the children to tidy up after themselves? Cleaning up after themselves, gives children a sense of responsibility and provides them with self-discipline.

Having trouble getting your little one to clean up? Maybe it's because you are doing it for them...stop it! By cleaning their mess, it sends a message to their brain that they don't need to, so in any other environment, they don't even bother to try. Put on some music and dance to the toy bins or set a timer and make it a cleaning game, 'let's beat the timer'!

Too many toys? Make labeled bins and only play with two or three bins/ materials at a time!

Spook-tastic Recipe

Terrible Teeth!

An apple a day...will keep the scary-s away! Cut a slice out of an apple. You should be able to get four slices out of an apple. Cut a smaller section out of the slice you just cut out, so that the slice looks like an open mouth. Or cut thin slices of the apple, use two slices to look like the mouth.

Add any kind of nut or cookie butter and place slivered almonds, marshmallows, or yogurt covered raisins, into the apple, near the peel to resemble teeth.
